Training Policy Overview

This policy defines how BAK designs, delivers, monitors, and improves online coaching programmes.

Training Principles

- Every course must begin with a learning objective.
- Classes must connect theory with practical application.
- Grammar is integrated into exam preparation wherever necessary.
- Learners should receive feedback that is specific, respectful, and actionable.
- No learner should be pushed forward without reasonable clarity on the previous learning unit.

Course Delivery Standards

Area	Standard
Session Planning	Each session should contain objective, explanation, model answer or demonstration, practice, and feedback.
Materials	Materials must be relevant to IELTS, PTE, OET, grammar, resume writing, or career communication.
Assessment	Diagnostic tests, mock questions, writing corrections, speaking reviews, and periodic progress checks may be used.
Tutor Responsibility	The tutor must maintain academic seriousness, punctuality, and learner-sensitive communication.

Learner Support and Feedback

Learners should receive a structured explanation of mistakes. Feedback must avoid humiliation and must focus on improvement. In writing and speaking modules, comments should distinguish between grammar, coherence, vocabulary, pronunciation, and task response.

BAK Principle: correction is not punishment. Correction is the shortest bridge between confusion and competence.
